Representative of Dr. Catherine F. Woo Memorial School expressed that it was honorable to co-organise Shorelines Cleanup Day with EPD, in which the students could take on civic responsibilities by serving the community and participating in environment protection. Through hands-on experiences, students would have a better understanding about the current status of the coastal environment, and think about their active roles in protecting the shorelines and the environment in a wider context. The activity is valuable and full of profound insights; and the school is looking forward to organising or participating in beach cleanup activities to enrich the learning experiences.
