Subject: Enquiry about the impact of wave heights and directions over water quality in Hong Kong

12/10/2004 15:36

Dear Sir/Madam,

I have just visited the website of 'Clean Harbour' and noticed that the water quality of Victoria Harbour has gradually improved these two years. Is there any studies or statistics that have account of the impact of wave height and wave direction over water quality in Hong Kong in different seasons? I believe this will be very interesting and I will be very grateful if you could tell me where can I find such data. Does HKO collect such data and is it accessible by the public? It will be very kind of you if you could send me an answer. Thanks a lot!

Best regards,
Kawin Chan
